

From: tee2green2001@aol.com
Sent: Thursday, January 21, 2010 11:17 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: 10-1 Proposed Leverage Rule

Dear Sir:

Your proposed rule to limit leverage in the forex market to 10-1 is ridiculous. It will only force traders to move their accounts offshore, and thus move another industry and more jobs out of the United States. It will not protect anyone from losses. Traders don't need limits on leverage to protect them from losses. Traders can protect themselves with education and proper money management. Limiting leverage in Un-American and violates the basic precepts of capitalism upon which this country was based. If you want to regulate something, go and regulate unscrupulous brokers who commit fraud, but don't regulate people who want to take, and will take risk, regardless of your regulations.

Thank you.

Stuart R. Cohen