Re: Fraud in the silver market

COMMENT

Sir:

It is doubtful this letter will even get to the desk of someone as important and busy as yourself. However, I would not think of myself as a Christian Person if I did not let my true feelings be made known. God willing, you will get to read this.

I am a man that keeps up with the commodities markets; to include silver and gold. The recent decline of silver (six dollars in the first 12 minutes alone) eventually led to a 30% decline. I am absolutely certain that you are aware of the obvious ILLEGAL manipulation of the Futures, and in general, the entire silver market. This is a true disregard to the peoples of America and those around the world. I believe, as do many others, that you have the complete authority to properly investigate this illegal manipulation and do what is right.

I have only one more statement. Whether you are Christian or whatever your convictions are is not my business. But you may be interested in two scriptures. They definitely apply!

- 1) James 5: 4
- 2) Col. 4:1

Very Respectfully
