

From: ali n <worldofforex@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, January 22, 2010 10:14 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex RIN 3038-AC61

Hello, I would like to let you know the new rule about 10:1 leverage is not a good idea. I'm making money right now at least enough money to make a living out of forex and if you change the leverage to 10:1 you will stop me from making money. I will gladly take my $200,000 out of USA and into Swiss broker. But with doing this you will be killing the retail forex in USA and cost some people to lose their job as well. Another thing is why do you guys have to decide for other people how to manage their money. With changing the leverage from 100 to 1 down to 10:1 you won't help anyone and just causing more damage since you will stop other people from making a living.

Thanks